August Sale of Fine Furs

1/2 to 1/3 Below Season's Regular Prices.

Coats, Muffs, Shawls, Neckpieces, and Matched Sets, in the newest modes for the coming fall-winter season. Because of the great favor in which furs are held in woman's dress fashions, variety has never before been equaled in the great diversity of kinds and shades, making this a season of unusual range for selections.

Many innovations have been wrought by skilled furriers who seek to answer the increasing demand for novelty as well as utility. The great degree of art shown in the treatment of the pelts to bring out prominently the individual beauty and marking of each particular fur, the tasteful combining of skins of different shades, have produced a veritable exposition of fur styles.

The assemblage will well repay inspection, if only to view the many new things that are shown. Draped Coats in the new 45-inch length with the set-in kimono sleeves and rounded fronts, are exceedingly handsome; coats in combinations of seal and beaver, seal and fox and seal and civet cat, luxurious and practical. In the sets and separate pieces Chinese civet cat, the South American fox, and the genuine taupe fox are extremely rich and lustrous.

We invite your special attention to the Narobia Furs, which are exclusive with us in Washington. They are shown in gray kitt and black lynx in muffs and scarfs. Rich, handsome pieces at unusually moderate prices. We guarantee them absolutely against wear.
